| #  | ARTICLE  | IF  | CITATIONS |
|----|--|-----|-----------|
| 1  | Lighting up our waterways: Impacts of a current mitigation strategy on riparian bats. Environmental Pollution , 2022, 307, 119552.  | 7.5 | 4         |
| 2  | Peaks in bat activity at turbines and the implications for mitigating the impact of wind energy developments on bats. Scientific Reports , 2021, 11, 3636.                                  | 3.3 | 25        |
| 3  | An evidence-based approach to specifying survey effort in ecological assessments of bat activity. Biological Conservation , 2019, 231, 98-102.  | 4.1 | 9         |
| 4  | Ecobat: An online resource to facilitate transparent, evidence-based interpretation of bat activity data. Ecology and Evolution , 2018, 8, 935-941.   | 1.9 | 9         |
| 5  | Basic mathematical errors may make ecological assessments unreliable. Biodiversity and Conservation , 2018, 27, 265-267.  | 2.6 | 3         |
| 6  | Bat use of commercial coniferous plantations at multiple spatial scales: Management and conservation implications. Biological Conservation , 2017, 206, 1-10.                               | 4.1 | 32        |
| 7  | Differential responses of cryptic bat species to the urban landscape. Ecology and Evolution , 2016, 6, 2044-2052.   | 1.9 | 27        |
| 8  | Ecological impact assessments fail to reduce risk of bat casualties at wind farms. Current Biology , 2016, 26, R1135-R1136.   | 3.9 | 44        |
| 9  | Differential Responses to Woodland Character and Landscape Context by Cryptic Bats in Urban Environments. PLoS ONE , 2015, 10, e0126850.  | 2.5 | 30        |
| 10 | Opportunities for improving the foraging potential of urban waterways for bats. Biological Conservation , 2015, 191, 224-233.   | 4.1 | 29        |
| 11 | City life makes females fussy: sex differences in habitat use of temperate bats in urban areas. Royal Society Open Science , 2014, 1, 140200.   | 2.4 | 29        |
| 12 | Moth species richness, abundance and diversity in fragmented urban woodlands: implications for conservation and management strategies. Biodiversity and Conservation , 2014, 23, 2875-2901. | 2.6 | 24        |
| 13 | Testing the effectiveness of surveying techniques in determining bat community composition within woodland. Wildlife Research , 2013, 40, 675.  | 1.4 | 35        |
