

Concurrent bladder cancer in patients undergoing photoresectoscopic ureterorenoscopy: how many lesions do we miss under

Central European Journal of Urology

69, 334-340

DOI: 10.5173/cej.2016.896

Citation Report

#	ARTICLE	IF	CITATIONS
1	Flexible polarimetric probe for 3D Mueller matrix measurements of biological tissue. Scientific Reports, 2017, 7, 11958.	1.6	29
2	Fluorescent Light-Guided Cystoscopy with 5-ALA Aids in Accurate Surgical Margin Detection for TURBO: A Case Report. Case Reports in Oncology, 2018, 11, 164-167.	0.3	1
3	Transurethral resection of bladder tumours: established and new methods of tumour visualisation. Translational Andrology and Urology, 2019, 8, 25-33.	0.6	6
4	Editorial Comment to A case in which bladder cancer invaded the ureteral orifice and was resected via photodynamic diagnosis-assisted transurethral resection involving orally administered 5-aminolevulinic acid. IJU Case Reports, 2019, 2, 316-317.	0.1	0
5	Current capabilities of endoscopic diagnosis of non-muscle invasive bladder cancer. Issledovaniã I Praktika V Medicine, 2020, 7, 129-143.	0.1	0