

From rural plantations to urban slums: The economic status of the poor in Kingston, Jamaica, in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries

Immigrants and Minorities

5, 129-144

DOI: 10.1080/02619288.1986.9974628

Citation Report

| # | ARTICLE | IF | CITATIONS |
|---|---|-----|-----------|
| 1 | Indians and blacks in Jamaica in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries: A micro-study of the foundation of race antagonisms. Immigrants and Minorities , 1988, 7, 95-112. | 0.8 | 2 |
| 2 | Indo-Caribbean Migration: From Periphery to Core. Caribbean Quarterly , 2003, 49, 30-60. | 0.0 | 12 |