

Napoleon Bonaparte and Apocalyptic Discourse in Early

Russian Review

65, 373-392

DOI: 10.1111/j.1467-9434.2005.00405.x

Citation Report

#	ARTICLE	IF	CITATIONS
1	Self-Interest versus the Common Cause: Austria, Prussia and Russia against Napoleon. Journal of Strategic Studies , 2008, 31, 605-632.	1.1	2
3	The Story Begins. , 2020, , 41-76.		0
4	The Antichrist, East and West. , 2020, , 77-125.		0
5	Antichrists, Present and Future. , 2020, , 126-164.		0
6	Of Prophets, Priests, and Kings. , 2020, , 165-200.		0
7	The Antichrist Divided. , 2020, , 201-235.		0
8	Antichrists â€œ Papal, Philosophical, Imperial. , 2020, , 236-284.		0
9	A Brief Meditation on History. , 2020, , 285-290.		0
12	The Origins of the Antichrist Tradition. , 2020, , 7-40.		0
14	â€œLas seÃ±ales de los Ãºltimos tiemposâ€: Laicidad y escatologÃa en el pensamiento catÃ³lico hispanoamericano del siglo XIX. Hispania Sacra , 2014, 66, 179-207.	0.0	2
15	Russiaâ€™s Radical Byron: Reexamining the â€œDecembrist Pushkinâ€: Comparative Literature , 2022, 74, 73-98.	0.1	0