Illicit drug profiling: the Australian experience

Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences 39, 25-32 DOI: 10.1080/00450610701324924

Citation Report

#	Article	IF	CITATIONS
1	Chemical markers from the peracid oxidation of isosafrole. Forensic Science International, 2008, 179, 44-53.	2.2	7
2	Research Front Essay: Forensic Chemistry. Australian Journal of Chemistry, 2010, 63, 1.	0.9	10
3	Detection of Impurities in Organic Peroxide Explosives from Precursor Chemicals. Australian Journal of Chemistry, 2010, 63, 30.	0.9	11
4	Comprehensive two-dimensional gas chromatography applied to illicit drug analysis. Analytical and Bioanalytical Chemistry, 2011, 401, 2361-2371.	3.7	21
5	Chemical signature of ecstasy volatiles by comprehensive two-dimensional gas chromatography. Forensic Science International, 2011, 209, 11-20.	2.2	28
6	A review of impurity profiling and synthetic route of manufacture of methylamphetamine, 3,4-methylenedioxymethylamphetamine, amphetamine, dimethylamphetamine and p-methoxyamphetamine. Forensic Science International, 2013, 224, 8-26.	2.2	91
7	The use of forensic case data in intelligence-led policing: The example of drug profiling. Forensic Science International, 2013, 226, 1-9.	2.2	74
8	Statistical Validation for the Profiling of Heroin by Associating Simulated Postcut Samples with the Corresponding Precut Sample. Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2013, 58, S199-207.	1.6	7
9	Study of common database feeding with results coming from different analytical methods in the framework of illicit drugs chemical profiling. Forensic Science International, 2013, 230, 16-28.	2.2	9
10	Analysis of amphetamineâ€type substances and piperazine analogues using desorption electrospray ionisation mass spectrometry. Rapid Communications in Mass Spectrometry, 2014, 28, 731-740.	1.5	16
11	The use of organic and inorganic impurities found in MDMA police seizures in a drug intelligence perspective. Science and Justice - Journal of the Forensic Science Society, 2014, 54, 32-41.	2.1	35
12	The landscape of forensic intelligence research. Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2015, 47, 16-26.	1.2	15
13	First systematic chemical profiling of cocaine police seizures in Finland in the framework of an intelligence-led approach. Forensic Science International, 2015, 251, 87-94.	2.2	37
14	The use of methylamphetamine chemical profiling in an intelligence-led perspective and the observation of inhomogeneity within seizures. Forensic Science International, 2015, 246, 55-64.	2.2	16
15	Qualitative analysis of seized cocaine samples using desorption electrospray ionization―mass spectrometry (DESIâ€MS). Drug Testing and Analysis, 2015, 7, 393-400.	2.6	26
16	A review of some recent studies on the stable isotope profiling of methylamphetamine: Is it a useful adjunct to conventional chemical profiling?. Science and Justice - Journal of the Forensic Science Society, 2015, 55, 2-9.	2.1	17
17	Impurity characteristics of street methamphetamine crystals seized in Tehran, Iran. Journal of Substance Use, 2016, 21, 501-505.	0.7	14
18	Potentiel criminalistique de l'étude du trafic de drogues au Canada à partir des données collectées sur les cryptomarchés. Journal of the Canadian Society of Forensic Science, 2016, 49, 161-175.	0.9	2

#	Article	IF	CITATIONS
19	Cathinones: Isotopic profiling as an aid to linking seizures. Drug Testing and Analysis, 2016, 8, 903-909.	2.6	11
20	Stability of cocaine impurity profiles during 12 months of storage. Forensic Science International, 2016, 264, 56-62.	2.2	7
21	Illicit drug profiling: the Australian experience – revisited. Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2017, 49, 591-604.	1.2	21
22	Illicit drug chemical profiling: current and future state. Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2018, , 1-8.	1.2	1
23	The synthesis and investigation of impurities found in clandestine laboratories: Baeyer-Villiger route part II; synthesis of Phenyl-2-propanone (P2P) analogues from substituted benzaldehydes. Forensic Chemistry, 2018, 9, 1-11.	2.8	4
24	Attenuated total reflectance – Fourier transform infra-red spectral profiling of illicit heroin for forensic intelligence. Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2018, 50, 543-551.	1.2	9
25	Component analysis of illicit morphia tablets (clandestine laboratory preparation) using gas chromatography mass spectrometry: a case study. Egyptian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2018, 8, .	1.0	1
26	Review of the most common chemometric techniques in illicit drug profiling. Forensic Science International, 2019, 302, 109911.	2.2	35
27	Trace elemental profile investigation of illicit heroin for forensic intelligence. Australian Journal of Forensic Sciences, 2020, 52, 60-70.	1.2	4
28	Evaluation of data preprocessings for the comparison of GC–MS chemical profiles of seized cannabis samples. Forensic Science International, 2020, 310, 110228.	2.2	18
29	The screening of identity documents at borders for forensic drug intelligence purpose. Forensic Chemistry, 2020, 18, 100228.	2.8	3
30	Interpreting the link value of similarity scores between illicit drug specimens through a dual approach, featuring deterministic and Bayesian frameworks. Forensic Science International, 2021, 319, 110651.	2.2	3
31	Cocaine profiling method retrospectively developed with nontargeted discovery of markers using liquid chromatography with timeâ€ofâ€flight mass spectrometry data. Drug Testing and Analysis, 2021, , .	2.6	6
32	DNA on drugs! A preliminary investigation of DNA deposition during the handling of illicit drug capsules. Forensic Science International: Genetics, 2021, 54, 102559.	3.1	9
33	Understanding Australian methylamphetamine drug markets through relational, temporal and spatial analyses. Drug Testing and Analysis, 2022, 14, 481-495.	2.6	3
34	Impurities, adulterants and cutting agents in cocaine as potential candidates for retrospective mining of GC-MS data. Science and Justice - Journal of the Forensic Science Society, 2022, 62, 60-75.	2.1	5
35	A Survey of the Effects of Common Illicit Drugs on Forensic DNA Analysis. SSRN Electronic Journal, 0,	0.4	1
36	Isotope fractionation during the synthesis of MDMA.HCl from helional. Forensic Chemistry, 2022, 28, 100406.	2.8	3

CITATION REPORT

CITATION REPORT

#	Article	IF	CITATIONS
37	A survey of the effects of common illicit drugs on forensic DNA analysis. Forensic Science International, 2022, 336, 111314.	2.2	4
38	State-of-the-Art Analytical Approaches for Illicit Drug Profiling in Forensic Investigations. Molecules, 2022, 27, 6602.	3.8	10
39	Analytical strategies for herbal Cannabis samples in forensic applications: A comprehensive review. Wiley Interdisciplinary Reviews Forensic Science, 0, , .	2.1	2
40	Cannabis profiling of seized samples: An intraâ€location variability study using gas chromatography–mass spectrometry profiles and multivariate data analysis. Drug Testing and Analysis, 0, , .	2.6	0
41	Digital forensic intelligence for illicit drug analysis in forensic investigations. IScience, 2023, 26, 108023.	4.1	0
42	Illicit Drugs and Pharmaceuticals Analysis. , 2023, , 39-64.		0