

A case of employers never letting a good crisis go to waste becomes even more precarious for hourly paid workers

Industrial Relations Journal

52, 442-457

DOI: 10.1111/irj.12344

Citation Report

#	ARTICLE	IF	CITATIONS
1	Delivering the goods? German industrial relations institutions during the <scp>COVID</scp>â€19 crisis. Industrial Relations, 2023, 62, 126-144.	1.6	5
2	Labour and housing market precarity: What is the impact of time-related underemployment?. International Journal of Housing Policy, 0, , 1-22.	1.8	0
3	Is job quality better or worse? Insights from quiz data collected before and after the pandemic. Industrial Relations Journal, 2023, 54, 203-222.	1.3	1
4	Migrant workers navigating the Covid-19 pandemic in the UK: Resilience, reworking and resistance. Economic and Industrial Democracy, 0, , .	1.6	0
5	Long day for few hours: impact of working time fragmentation on low wages in France. Cambridge Journal of Economics, 2024, 48, 89-114.	1.6	1
6	Insecurity. , 2023, , 119-164.		0
7	Out with the old, in with the new? Institutional experimentation and decent work in the UK. Economic and Industrial Democracy, 0, , .	1.6	0