

The Diachronic Typology of Non-Canonical Subjects

Studies in Language Companion Series

,

DOI: 10.1075/slcs.140

Citation Report

#	ARTICLE	IF	CITATIONS
1	The Independent Partitive as an Eastern Circum-Baltic isogloss. Journal of Language Contact , 2015, 8, 341-418.	0.2	14
2	Semantic and cognitive factors of argument marking in ancient Indo-European languages. Diachronica , 2017, 34, 368-419.	0.5	0
4	A rare case of covert modality. Studies in Language Companion Series , 2014, , 409-456.	0.4	18
5	Argument marking and grammatical relations in Baltic: An overview. Valency, Argument Realization and Grammatical Relations in Baltic , 2014, , 1-41.	0.1	10
6	Categorization and semantics of subject-like obliques. Constructional Approaches To Language , 2015, , 175-203.	0.6	1
7	Chapter 1. Introduction. Studies in Language Companion Series , 0, , 1-20.	0.4	0
8	Roots of Ergativity in Africa (and Beyond). Studies in African Linguistics , 2020, 49, 111-140.	0.2	3
9	Criteria for subjecthood and non-canonical subjects in Classical Greek. Current Issues in Linguistic Theory , 2020, , 30-48.	0.2	2
10	The trajectory of the "MoÅ¼no ja X?" construction: variation in speech acts of request in contemporary Russian. Russian Linguistics , 2022, 46, 133-164.	0.7	0
11	Introduction to Lexical constraints in grammar: Minority verb classes and restricted alternations. Open Linguistics , 2023, 9, .	0.5	0
12	Prototipicidade, marcaxe prepositiva e suxeito no galego medieval. Revista Galega De FiloloxÃa , 0, 24, .	0.0	0